

Region	Miniboss	Core tragedy	Style of Attack	Abilities
Mirror Veil	The Mirror King	This scientist uses his copies for numerous scientific experiments, and even for fighting, yet enforces a strict hierarchy to keep himself at the apex. To enter his lab, you must even defeat yourself.	Duplicates projectiles and lower copies of himself to attack you. See through the swarm and attack him-once he goes down, they'll fight over the remaining power, and defeat them to obtain the Phase Dash.	Creating Mirror Copies of himself Creating Mirror Copies of the Player Creating Mirror Copies of projectiles Not immune to Knockback
Event Horizon	Gravity Collapse Core	A gravitic mining rig feeding the Sovereign's war machine; containment failed and it became a self-collapsing singularity, still "extracting" everything nearby.	Kk kChanges gravity to any of the four directions, uses a lot of hazards. A massive robot that can fly and charge anywhere, alongside creating constructs. Dance through the platforms in all types of gravitational fields and destroy the boss to calm the regions.	Change gravity in four different directions Flight Hazard Generation Immune to Knockback Projectiles Construct generation (moving platforms to stand on in all gravitational directions)
Chrono-Space Rift	Temporal Warden	Eldest keeper of the order that gave the Player their rewind clock(how they come back from death-they never die,	Immense precog and lots of power of time, but this "sight" can be overwhelmed by power.	Precognition Skip to the future Rewind to the past they just rewind to the last checkpoint); uses forbidden time-magic to keep resetting this small closed world to make more time for himself and for this world. Driven by guilt, he spares the player his true strength, and once his love is saved from the Void Expanse, he will owe the player a “favor”-the closest thing to an ally in this cold world.

Graviton Core	Fractured Sovereign's Guard (the one direct exception)	An elite soldier of the “Sovereign”s, still holding his post and waiting for orders that stopped coming from cycles before, loyalty with no one left to be loyal to. Seems to be aware of the loop, but is vague about it in his dialogue.	A strong fighter similar to the player.	Hits the ceiling to drop rubble on the player. Huge knockback on his hits Somewhat fast Resistant to knockback from the player Can parry and block with the shield until it breaks along with messing with communication for opponents outside this closed world. She also has a massive electromagnetic golem to defend it.		Can give a wall or the floor a magnetic charge, and give the player a magnetic charge, either attracting the player or repelling the player. Platforms that can change the players charge float around for coutnerplay.
The Polar Shift	Electromagnetic Golem directed by a scientist.	Strong magnetic fields fill the region. This scientist supplies a lot of weapon tech parts,	She directs from above, as a huge golem descends to fight the player.	Strong hits with lots of knockback. Weak to projectiles and charged attacks.

Echoing Abyss	Quantum Pursuer	This scientist uses numerous lower class citizens as experimental bait, to collect their souls. Now, she uses their souls to fight and for power, to ascend beyond the limits in ways no soul has ever endured before.	Releases the shadow of the player's soul, making the player be chased by a shadow 0.5s delayed, always having to be on the move. Meanwhile, she charges her dynamic weaponry with souls, covering the field with spells.	Releases a shadow that is you be 0.5s delayed. Many long distance spells. First phase is very weak to knockback. Second phase is very resistant,
Crag of the Colossus	Crag Warden	Head of the material mining operation in the Crag of the Colossus. Ruthless and merciless.	A strong fighter similar to the player.	Has "super armor" that can only be broken by charged attacks. Uses mostly charged attacks and combos. Immune to knockback. Can hit you hard enough into the ground that you get stuck and must mash key buttons to escape

Paradox Engine	The Assembler	She is a creator and does maintenance for all the warp fields and portals in this world.	Attacks extremely quickly with warp speed, and portals. Utilize cooldown times for openings to attack.	Warp speed Portals Gives a warp key to the player after defeat (this is useful postgame)
Warp Gate Nexus	Warden & Hollow (a pair)	Two gatekeepers built to cover each other's blind spots, still "testing" every traveler since their shift never technically ended.	Duo fight, reactive counter-pair (not fake prediction).	Warden guarantees a parry vs. melee only; Hollow guarantees a dodge/teleport vs. ranged/ability hits but is vulnerable to melee — forces you to switch tools mid-fight rather than pick one dominant strategy.
Timeline Crossroads	New Miniboss (clearly added a while ago based on story permanence but never written down)	Was one of the scientists that ordered the creation of the child, but even wanted the child as a failure. This scientist controls most of the routes in the world, and also a large prison in Echo Bridge. When the player gets the child, has the player arrested so he can get the child. Stole the Void Tether from the Void	Using trains and locomotives and prisoners to attack the player	Controls Brainwashed prisoners that can even die from his other attacks Trains and other locomotives fly through the arena Flying opponent that takes a lot of knockback but continues flying.

		Expanse miniboss, but thinks it's not usable.(which is why he even goes through with it)
Static Field	The Conduit	Creates most of the weaponry and electronics in this world.	Uses electricity in her attacks.	Uses electricity, we can expand on this though Phase 2: uses the electroweak interaction-so she can decay the player over time but weakly
Sovereign's Army Reserve	The Sovereign's Army	A large room of dangerous guards, frozen in time many loops ago by the "Sovereign" of ages past.	The same guard, clones over and over. They no longer have any will but to fight.	The player must defeat many guards in a row to obtain the Limit Break. Some are ranged, some are melee
The Void Expanse	New Miniboss (added 2026-07-21)	The "child" of a scientist obsessed with the darkness. Now merged with this darkness, takes over the Void Expanse and tries to steal anything held dear. Stole the loved one of the temporal warden. Will also kidnap your "friend" or the child if brought here.		Void attacks and projectiles Can teleport and fast travel through the void. If the player has the void tether, and defeats it, the void tether will be completed, along with an opportunity to reassign lore pips.

The Antechamber	The Child	If you leave the child behind, in the prison break, they will escape and will keep her safe. You will see escaped prisoners all over the place, and they will hint to her as their leader. Once you arrive at the antechamber, she will fight you using the ways they taught her.	She uses the found weapons throughout the map, such as tasers and flamethrowers and guns that were stolen from guards.	Tasers, Flamethrowers Bombs Guns In phase 1, fights alone In phase 2, calls other former prisoners to her aid, and heals them occasionally In phase 3, rage boost
"Tutorial Area" Final Boss	The Sovereign	The player in the future. With the knowledge to do what must be done, she takes over this cold world and become the Sovereign, ready to take the Child and use her to stabilize and escape this endless loop	The player weighed down and stronger. She will have much of the same moveset as the player, except for Graviton Surge, since she never got it in her time as "the player". Has a corrupted Void tether that brings her to you.	In phase 1, has a lot of precog and "knows" what the player will do next In phase 2, uses all her abilities except Stillpoint In phase 3, uses stillpoint